

"THREE GENERATIONS IN FIELD GRAY" was the title inscribed in German on this photograph—William Frederick, eldest son of the German Crown Prince, born in 1906; his grandfather, the Kaiser; his father, Frederick William, Crown Prince.

The Shadow of War Lies Upon the Lives of These Royal Fledglings of Teuton Blood, Mercifully Ignorant of Its Tragedy.

International Film Service.

THE FOUR SONS of the German Crown Prince, ranging in age from five to ten years—William Frederick, the eldest; Louis Ferdinand, Hubert and Frederick, the youngest.

CLOTHES, we are obliged to observe, after surveying this picture and the one in the center of the page, both of the same child, do, after all, make the man, for—

The subject happens to be not a princess, but a prince—Alexander Ferdinand, son of Prince August William of Germany and grandson of the Kaiser.

WHETHER HE'S NATURALLY militant or simply on the defensive is a question. But he's a warlike looking youngster, this Prince Ludwig of Bavaria.

A DOG AND HIS MASTER, just a pretty, curly-haired boy, serene of brow and smile amid the storm of war. He is Archduke Carlos, son of Archduke Leopold Salvator of Austria.

THE BRUNETTE Princess Stefani and the blond Prince Rudi are royal children of Windisch-Graetz.

PRINCE FREDERICK, youngest son of the German Crown Prince, born December 19, 1911.